PART 1: THE COMPLETE COURSE (LE COURS COMPLET)

1.1 Vocabulary: Active vs. Lazy Holidays

The Tunisian Baccalaureate focuses heavily on thematic vocabulary. The first lesson draws a sharp distinction between Active Holidays (focused on movement, exploration, and learning) and Lazy Holidays (focused on physical passivity and complete relaxation).

Holiday Type	Activities / Collocations	Highly Recommended Adjectives
Active Holidays	Trekking, hiking, webquests, sightseeing, doing the sights, sports events, visiting museums, exploring nature.	Captivating: highly fascinating. Breathtaking: incredibly beautiful. Stimulating: mentally refreshing. Original: out of the ordinary.
Lazy Holidays	Sunbathing, watching TV, relaxing at a campsite, staying at home, sleeping like a rock, having a cuppa.	Tedious: highly boring, repetitive. Monotonous: lacking variety. Relaxing: reducing stress. Enjoyable: giving pleasure.

1.2 Grammar: Expressing Habits in the Past & Gradual Adaptation

There are four major grammatical structures you must master in this chapter. The Bac exam frequently tests your ability to choose the correct tense or rephrase sentences using these structures:

1. Used to + Bare Infinitive

- Use: Expresses past habits, repeated actions, or past states that are no longer true today.
- Key Rule: It is the only structure that can be used with both state verbs (be, have, like, know, believe) and action verbs.
- Example: I used to have long hair. (State - cannot use 'would'). Everyday, we used to wake up at 7:00. (Repeated action).

2. Would + Bare Infinitive

- Use: Expresses past habits or typical physical behaviors in the past. It adds a nostalgic, narrative tone.
- Key Restriction: It cannot be used with state verbs (be, have, like, live, etc.).
- Example: At the end of the day, we would go back home and grandmother would give me chocolate cake. (Correct).
- Incorrect: *She would be a quiet child. (Must use: she used to be).

3. Be Used to + V-ing / Noun (Adaptation state)

- Use: Indicates that an action or situation has become normal, familiar, and is no longer strange.
- Structure: Subject + BE (am/is/are/was/were) + used to + Verb-ing / Noun phrase.
- Example: Tunisian students are used to accessing the Internet for research now.

4. Get Used to + V-ing / Noun (Adaptation process)

- Use: Expresses the actual process of adaptation or change. It is dynamic.
- Structure: Subject + GET (in any tense) + used to + Verb-ing / Noun phrase.
- Example: When I moved to the city, I had to get used to living in a crowded space.

1.3 Rhetorical Devices: Parallelism (Le Parallélisme)

Parallelism is the repetition of a specific grammatical form, tense, or structure in a sentence. It clarifies the meaning of your writing and adds symmetry and rhythm to it. It joins equally important ideas.

RHETORICAL FOCUS: PARALLELISM

Bac Exam Application: You will be asked to identify parallelism or correct errors where parallel structures are broken.

- Broken Parallelism: She likes dancing and to swim. (Incorrect)
- Parallel Structure: She likes dancing and swimming. (Correct)
- Rhetorical Example: 'As an artist, he drew, painted, and sculpted.' (Repetition of Past Simple verbs).

1.4 Webquest Cultural Focus: The Seychelles

A Webquest is an inquiry-oriented, research-based activity where students gather information from the internet to complete a specific project. Chapter 1 introduces the Seychelles as an archetypal destination for eco-tourism.

CULTURAL ID CARD: THE SEYCHELLES

The Seychelles Key Facts:

- Geographical Location: An archipelago of 115 islands in the Indian Ocean off East Africa.
- Culture & Languages: Trilingual nation. The official languages are Creole (Seselwa), English, and French.
- Eco-Tourism Priority: Famous for its extreme biodiversity, containing rare species like the Giant Tortoises and the unique coco de mer palm in the Vallée de Mai (a UNESCO World Heritage site). They enforce strict environmental laws.

1.5 Pronunciation & Phonetics: Homophones

Homophones are pairs or groups of words that share the exact same pronunciation but have different spellings and completely different meanings. They are heavily tested in the phonetics section of the Tunisian Bacculaureate.

Homophone Pair	Word A: Meaning & Context	Word B: Meaning & Context
sea / see	Sea (n): large body of salty water. Ex: We swam in the sea.	See (v): to perceive with eyes. Ex: I can see the beach.
way / weigh	Way (n): path, route or manner. Ex: I know the way to school.	Weigh (v): measure heaviness. Ex: How much does this luggage weigh?
new / knew	New (adj): recently created. Ex: I bought a new book.	Knew (v): past of 'know'. Ex: I knew the answer.
I'll / isle	I'll (contraction): I will. Ex: I'll put the kettle on.	Isle (n): island. Ex: The tropical isle of Seychelles.
air / heir	Air (n): invisible gaseous substance. Ex: Fresh country air.	Heir (n): person inheriting property. Ex: He was the sole heir to the fortune.

1.6 Graphical Data Analysis & Writing Methodology

On page 40, the textbook provides a table detailing how British children and adults rank their summer outing preferences on a sunny day. This data-heavy exercise trains your capacity to interpret figures, charts, and write a comparative and contrasting paragraph (a prime requirement for Section II: Writing).

WRITING METHODOLOGY: THE 10-LINE COMPARISON

Step-by-Step Writing Methodology for the 10-Line Comparison Paragraph:

- Topic Sentence: Clearly introduce the two entities being compared. (e.g., 'Unlike children, who prioritize physical and adventurous summer outings, adults display a strong preference for relaxing and natural activities.')
- Body Development: Group similarities and differences. Use used to for the past state, and contrast linkers:
 - Contrast Linkers: Whereas, while, unlike, but, however, in contrast.
- Syntactical Variety: Mix your sentence structures. Utilize parallel structures to increase cohesion and flow.
- Concluding Sentence: Synthesize your main observation. (e.g., 'In conclusion, summer outing selections reflect a natural generational shift from active, sensory play to slow, restorative recreation.')

Q10. A 'six-hours flight' is the correct way to write a compound adjective of duration.

3.2 Ultra-Detailed Correction & Pedagogical Explanations

EXAM CORRECTION KEY

Q1. Correct Option: c) used to.

Explanation: Both 'used to' and 'would' can express past habits. However, 'used to' is the safest general past habit marker. ('are used to' is present and requires V-ing, which is incorrect here).

Q2. Correct Option: b) living.

Explanation: The structure 'Get used to' requires the preposition 'to' followed by a gerund (V-ing) or noun. Therefore, 'living' is the only correct choice.

Q3. Correct Option: b) climb.

Explanation: In the word 'climb', the final letter 'b' is completely silent /klaɪm/. All letters are pronounced in 'holiday' and 'seaside'.

Q4. Correct Option: b) I like swimming, trekking, and resting...

Explanation: Parallelism requires all items in a list to share the identical grammatical form. Option b uses three gerunds (V-ing), establishing perfect symmetry.

Q5. Correct Option: b) heir.

Explanation: The context refers to inheriting property. 'Heir' (pronounced /eɪ(r)/) is the homophone of 'air' and means successor. 'Hair' is pronounced with a hard /h/ /heɪ(r)/.

Q6. Answer: False.

Justification: 'Would' cannot be used to express a past habit with a state verb. 'Be' is a state verb; therefore, we must write: 'We used to be happy during the holiday.'

Q7. Answer: False.

Justification: 'Despite' is a preposition, not a conjunction. It must be followed by a noun phrase or a gerund, never by a full clause with a finite verb (unless structured as 'Despite the fact that...').

Q8. Answer: False.

Justification: There is a stress shift. As a noun, the stress is on the first syllable (PRO-ject). As a verb, the stress shifts to the second syllable (pro-JECT).

Q9. Answer: False.

Justification: The Seychelles archipelago is located in the Indian Ocean, not the Atlantic Ocean.

Q10. Answer: False.

Justification: In a compound adjective (Number + Noun), the noun acting as a modifier must remain strictly singular. The correct form is 'a six-hour flight' (no 's' on hour).
